MOVING FORWARD

We need your SUPPORT now more than EVER.

As you know, 2020 has been a year full of challenges and hard decisions. This academic year is no exception, but as we have proven, Shenandoah excels in the face of adversity.

Every member of our university community has worked hard to welcome students back to campus in a safe and accommodating way. We are adapting, growing and expanding as the world continues to change.

This academic year looks different, but we are here, both on-campus and virtually, with our innovative faculty ensuring the safety of our students, all while providing a transformative education that propels them into the future and beyond.

We thank you for your previous support and continued dedication, and we hope you will join us on this journey.
